Festival Founders, Artistic and Managing Directors

Douglas Macaulay

Doug's experience as an arranger, producer, conductor and award-winning composer combines with the role of which he is most proud: music educator, to create an uncompromising vision and belief in the potential and intelligence of young musicians and the importance of quality music education. Doug is the recipient of the BCMEA Distinguished Service award and an inductee to the American Bandmasters Association. Con Brio Festivals is a reflection of his years of experience in both the music industry and as a music educator. Festival experience with his own band program, and as an adjudicator at festivals throughout North America drives the direction of Con Brio Festivals to be the very best.

Susan Magnan

Sue has a lifetime of experience in the amateur music community as a choral singer, orchestra member and Music PAC President in both school and community music organizations. She has attended numerous festivals both as performer/participant and parent/chaperone, which allows a wide-ranging perspective on what constitutes a successful festival. This outlook on the musical arts and education, coupled with an exceptional organizational talent honed from a career in communications consulting and management, is what allows Con Brio to present festivals that run like clockwork and deliver a superior experience for students and teachers alike.

"Over 50,000 musicians have come to the Con Brio Whistler and Sun Peaks Festivals since we began in the year 2000. Our purpose is to support the pursuit of excellence and inspire a lifelong love of music in each participant."
